The flow

The script follows one working day through the system. Work is passed from one role to the next, so the steps are run in order from 1 to 53, each starting where the one before ended.

1 Administrator
Prepares stock and orders
→
2 Supplier
Confirms and ships
→
3 Administrator
Receives the order
→
4 Cashier
Sells for the day
→
5 Administrator
Closes the day and reviews

Before starting

- Three test accounts: an Administrator, a Cashier and a Supplier. The Supplier account belongs to the supplier that TEST Dog Treats is ordered from.
- A product whose expiration date has already passed, holding 20 in stock (used in Part 3).
- A discount limit below 50% in Settings (used in Part 4), and a test email inbox for the purchase order email.
- Testing is done in a test copy of the system, never on the shop's real records.

How to mark the result

Write P (passed) when the screen shows exactly the expected result, or F (failed) when it does not, and note what happened under REMARKS. A Positive step is done the right way and must succeed; a Negative step makes a mistake on purpose and must be refused with the message shown. Words in brackets, such as (product) or (amount), stand for the value on the screen.
